INTRODUCTION

The entrepreneurs in the world are the influential force that makes the business world dynamic. With their talents, daringness and innovativeness, they mould the business world to what it is now. These vibrant entrepreneurs give impetus to the economic growth, employment creation and innovation. The development of Small and Medium Enterprises formed by these entrepreneurs provides outsourcing support to the larger corporations and institutions. They complement these manufacturing multinationals taking away the non core activities away from these corporations.

Newly developed nations like South Korea, China, Russia, India and China requires huge number of entrepreneurs to propel the nation into the new era of open economy especially with the recent emphasis on the push for free trade. The business has become very competitive and nation like Malaysia will need larger pool of creative, innovative and enterprising people to bring Malaysia toward the vision of 2020.

As one entrepreneur rightly puts it "If you don't take advantage of yourself, someone else will." This can also be seen in a bigger perspective in relation to Malaysia. If our entrepreneurs do not take advantage of our natural and human resources, someone will reap the benefits from us. We have to capitalise on the opportunities not only in Malaysia but in the world as the markets have opened up. So the opportunities are abundant and it is only those entrepreneurs who have the right creativeness, attitude and perseverance will be able to do well.

The National Entrepreneur Conference and Exhibition 2010 focus in the development of not only quantity but quality Malaysian entrepreneurs. This event also helps in increasing the percentage of Malaysian entrepreneurs in business relative to its population in Malaysia. The NECE 2010 provides a platform for them to discuss, analyse, contemplate on the knowledge and skills required to be the best entrepreneurs. The participants will also be exposed to the many business opportunities offered by companies that are 100% groomed in Malaysia.

OBJECTIVE OF THE CONFERENCE

The objective of the conference is to gather in the same place decision makers (government, ministries and state agencies), scientists (universities, research and development centres, start-up centres and incubators) and practitioners (SME's) in order to discuss topic that are of crucial importance for national competitiveness and increased economic development in the country .

THE KEY AREAS OF THE CONFERENCE ARE:

- Entrepreneurship as a process of identifying opportunities and putting useful ideas into practice;
- Innovation as the driver of national, regional and global economy;
- Regional development and the possibilities and barriers for closer cooperation between entrepreneurs and corporate.

TARGET AUDIENCE

The conference will be addressed at national government representatives in the country, who are involved in the process of policy making in the area of Innovation, Entrepreneurship and Nation Development. Special target group are enterprises, as well as non-governmental organizations active in conference topics.

The conference brings together policy makers, experts, practitioners, professors, business people and scientists in this subject area. The conference will make a contribution to policy making and new ideas on competitiveness in the country. Special target audience are students, young researchers and their supervisors from industry to present actual research projects and results.
